Cut Of 1.2 Million In Armed Forces Announced By Russia—

AMERICA WANTS BETTER PROOF

-FROGMAN-

Eden Is Still Mum

He Says Russian Relations Might Be Chilled

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Eden angrily refused Monday night to explain the mystery of Britain's missing frogman. He hinted that telling the secret might chill relations with Russia.

"In this business," Eden told parliament, his face grave and his voice deeply serious, "I do not rest only on the national interest."

"There is also a very important international interest."

The House of Commons was packed and hushed. Sir Winston Churchill, hunched in a front row seat, stared at his successor ... Adm. Lord Mountbatten, first lord of the Admiralty clasped his knuckles in the gallery and hung over the rails.

'Beginning'

"I confess," said Eden, "that what I care is the outcome of our discussions with the Soviet leaders should, in truth, prove to be, as I have said—the beginning of the beginning."

In complete quiet, Eden went on:

"I intend to safeguard that possibility at all costs. I believe that that is the policy of the Soviet leaders and it is for that reason that I deplore this debate and will say no more."

His eyes flashed and he looked angrily at the Laborites who had unsuccessfully tried to bait him into explaining why naval Comdr. (Ret.) Lionel (Buster) Crabb, the frogman, was spotted near a Russian cruiser.

After that dramatic pause, Eden sat down amid a roar of "Hear! hear! hear! hear! . . ." from his Conservative backers.

'Missing'

The frogman is officially listed as "missing—presumed dead" in the cold waters of Portsmouth harbor while diving near the cruiser that last month brought Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on a visit to Britain.

Eden earlier told the Soviets that he regrets the incident, but beyond saying that no minister of the government was a responsible for it, he has kept silent.

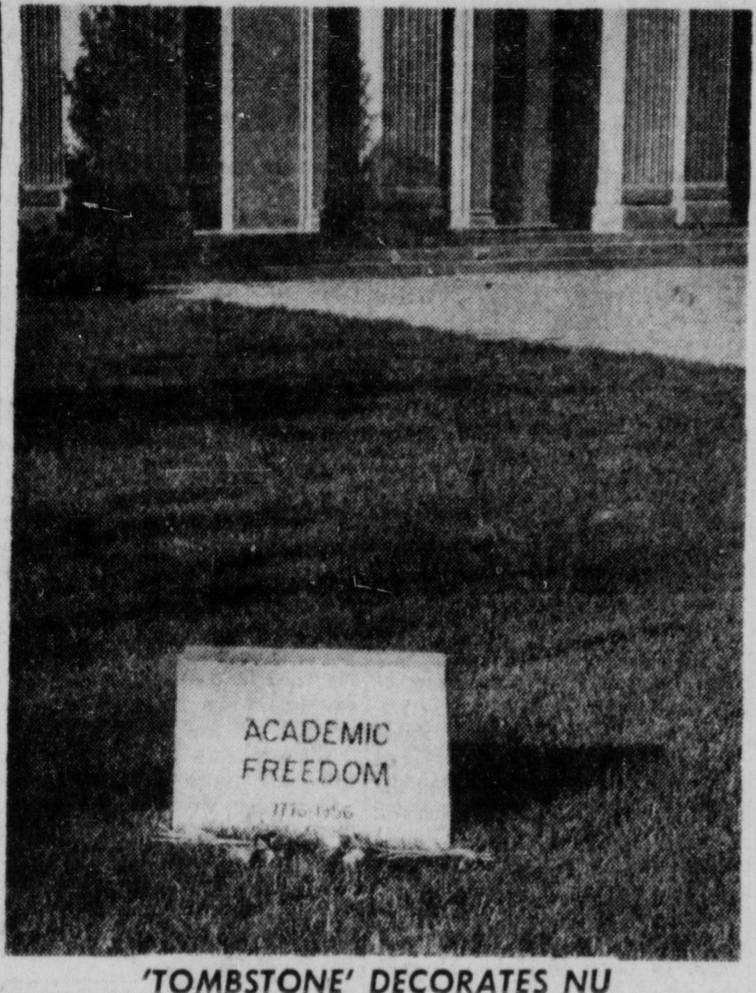

Eden told Commons Monday "I have not one more word to say than I announced on Wednesday."

U.S. Linked

LONDON (UPI) — A small, left-wing labor group reported rumors that the naval frogman who apparently lost his life spying on Russian warships was working for the United States.

"That's complete nonsense," said a spokesman for the American Embassy in London.

The National Administrative Council of the Independent Labor party, a splinter group of Socialists with no members in Parliament, passed a resolution saying it "noted with concern rumors that Comdr. Crabb, the frogman, was operating on behalf of Americans espionages groups."

'TOMBSTONE' DECORATES NU

Early-risers at the University of Nebraska Monday were greeted by this "tombstone" on the lawn at the north entrance to Love Library. A two by three foot chunk of concrete, it said simply: "Academic Freedom, 1956." Evidently placed there during the night, it was removed by mid-morning.

Concern Expressed On Freedom Lack Charges

... NU Chancellor Makes Statement

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin of the University of Nebraska Monday night expressed "increasing concern" over stories in the NU student newspaper that "academic freedom is being violated by the administration."

In a statement addressed to students, faculty and officials, the chancellor said the University committees set up to receive complaints of academic freedom violations such as the Nebraskan alleges have received none.

Chancellor Hardin's complete statement said:

"I have been increasingly concerned by the series of reports printed in the Nebraskan which either state or imply that academic freedom is being violated by the administration."

"To question the judgment of administrative officers as they act to fulfill their responsibilities is one thing. To present charges that the administration either permits a infringement on academic freedom, or worse, promotes such infringement, is quite another thing. Articles appearing in The Nebraskan's series during the past ten days, in my opinion at least, reflect a marked drift from the first area into the second."

'Especially Disturbed'

"I have been especially disturbed by the reports, such as that appearing in the issue of Friday, May 4, which at least imply that many members of the faculty believe the administration guilty of choking off a free expression of views on this campus."

"Under University rules, two standing committees elected by the University Senate are provided for the express purpose of receiving complaints which bear upon academic freedom and intra-institutional relationships. My grave concern over the repeated assertions regarding the administration's attitudes and actions prompted me to consult with the members of both of these committees: the Committee on Academic Privilege and the Liaison Committee.

"The purpose of my inquiry was to learn whether either of these faculty agencies, or any of their members, had received complaints of a nature similar to those reported as widespread by The Nebraskan. Neither committee nor any member had received any such complaint."

'Quasi-Judicial'

"By virtue of their quasi-judicial complexion neither of these committees is in a position to act until charges are placed before it. It is the clear and solemn duty of any faculty member who has reason to feel that his academic freedom has been impinged upon to place his complaint and such evidence as he believes supports it, before one of these committees."

Without such action the University's remedial machinery stands idle while the institution, as well as its administration, is plagued with rumors and innuendoes.

"I wish to emphasize here the depth of my feeling on what appears to be the current point at issue in the recent efforts of The Nebraskan's series during the past ten days, in my opinion at least, reflect a marked drift from the first area into the second."

'Especially Disturbed'

"I have been especially disturbed by the reports, such as that appearing in the issue of Friday, May 4, which at least imply that many members of the faculty believe the administration guilty of choking off a free expression of views on this campus."

Moscow Says Industry Is To Get Manpower

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Monday night it would cut its armed forces within a year by 1,200,000 men and use the manpower in industry and agriculture.

A government statement said "other governments such as those of the United States, Britain and France wishing to contribute to the strengthening of peace, cannot but follow this example." It made no reference to armed forces slashes by Western powers since World War II.

The U.S.S.R. also reported it would disband three air divisions, put 375 ships of the Soviet navy into mothballs and disband a number of military training schools. It also said it would reduce its military budget, but gave no figure.

Read To Newsmen

The statement, read to correspondents at a Foreign Ministry news conference, said:

"By undertaking these new reductions the Soviet government is striving to contribute to the practical carrying out of the disarmament program now under consideration in the United Nations."

The armed forces cut, to be in effect by May 1, 1957, involved 63 army divisions and three air divisions, including more than 30,000 men now stationed in Communist East Germany, and did not include the 640,000 the U.S.S.R. reported demobilized last year, the statement said.

The slash was announced on the eve of French Premier Guy Mollet's arrival in Moscow, and probably will be discussed with him during his four-day visit.

Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev hinted last week to a group of visiting French Socialists that some such announcement was about to be made.

Total Not Disclosed

Leonid F. Ilyichev, the Foreign Ministry press chief, said he did not know how many men would be left in the Soviet armed forces after the cut is completed, nor would he say how much of a percentage cut would be made in the military budget. He said the reduction would not show up until the 1947 budget. There was no information, either, on what type of ships would be put in mothballs or on how much sea power would remain.

Wilson told the Senate committee there was no evidence that the Russians have "eased up" on their military development. He spoke before the Moscow announcement, but he still had in mind the possibility of a Red manpower reduction.

There was no further Pentagon comment.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, commented:

"The statement would have more significance if the Russian delegation at the disarmament conference had been more willing to accept the disarmament proposals made there, particularly the President's suggestion of aerial inspection."

He referred to Eisenhower's proposal that the United States and Russia agree to mutual aerial inspection of military installations in the two countries. Russia has balked at this method of insuring compliance with disarmament agreements.

The Kremlin announcement came as no surprise here. Both Secretary of State Dulles and Harold E. Stassen, the President's disarmament aid, said last week it could be expected.

Officials here said Soviet cutback, if carried through, would bring no responsive reduction in American military manpower.

There are still more than four million men under arms in Russia, according to the latest U.S. estimates. As of March 31, the United States had 2,849,695 in its armed forces.

Washington Still Looks For 'Deeds, Not Words'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's announcement that it would reduce its armed forces by 1,200,000 men within a year didn't cut much ice in Washington Monday.

A White House spokesman said the move would have more significance if the Soviets had been more cooperative at the London disarmament conference, which ended in disagreement 10 days ago.

The unofficial State Department reaction was that Russia appeared to be merely switching from military to economic methods of seeking world domination (the Kremlin announcement said the manpower drawn out of the armed forces would be diverted to industry and agriculture).

Very Cautious

State Department officials were extremely cautious about accepting the announced Communist plan as concrete evidence of good faith—the "deeds, not words" that President Eisenhower has often called for.

Anticipating some "dramatic" announcement by the Russians about reducing their military forces, Secretary of Defense Wilson told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee this morning that it sounded to him at that point as something "no different to our own so-called 'new look,'" except that it is coming three years later.

The Eisenhower administration's "new look" program for U. S. armed forces was based on a reduction in Army manpower and a greater reliance on the Air Force and modern atomic weapons.

Wilson told the Senate committee there was no evidence that the Russians have "eased up" on their military development. He spoke before the Moscow announcement, but he still had in mind the possibility of a Red manpower reduction.

U.S. Has Air Power Lead, Wilson Says

AMERICA
POSITION

... Senators Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson, in a new pronouncement on air power, said Monday the United States has a superiority over Russia and he thinks it can be held.

The same opinion came from Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "I believe we can stay ahead of them."

Their statements, more confident in tone than some recent testimony by U. S. air generals, may be some reflection of what President Eisenhower had in mind when he informed his news conference May 4 that the country would feel a lot better about its air power position when the full story was presented.

Russia Announces Cut

Both Wilson and Radford testified before Washington had heard the news of Russia's intention to slash its armed forces by 1,200,000 men. The Kremlin announcement came several hours later. It said three Red air divisions would be among those disbanded.

Concern has been mounting in Congress that the Soviet Union was outstripping the United States in the struggle for sky mastery. Several Pentagon chiefs have said recently that Russia was "closing the gap" in some phases of air power.

The defense chief said the question "is always complicated" by measuring air power in numbers of planes. The comparison should be made in terms of quality and combat readiness, he said.

U. S. Ahead Now

Then he reported that the United States is ahead now, and the main question seems to be whether that will be true in 1960 at the current rate of buildup here and in the Soviet Union.

"We have superiority now," Wilson declared.

"Inside the family circle, we think we can maintain that, but not a great big superiority."

No Wednesday Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will not hold his usual Wednesday morning news conference this week but may meet with reporters Friday. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the usual Friday Cabinet session has been switched to Wednesday because several members of the Cabinet will be in Hot Springs, Va., Friday to attend a meeting of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Committee.

Stocks Skid After Moscow News

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market days, and especially since the latest news of cutbacks in auto production.

The Associated Press 60 stock average dropped $2.20 to $183.70, one of the steepest dips this year, but less than the $2.50 lost last Thursday when General Motors announced it would close its assembly plants for a day.

Volume speeded up on the decline and the total turnover amounted to 2,440,000 shares compared with 2,450,000 Friday.

Losses ran to around $1 to $5 a share on some leading issues. The total quoted value of all listed stocks on the New York Stock Exchange declined $2,500,000,000 based on The Associated Press average.

But the market was already on its way down when the news came and some Wall Street observers said the technical position was weak anyway.

"If it wasn't that, it would have been something else," said Gerald M. Loeb, partner in the Wall Street firm of E. F. Hutton & Co. He and other observers noted that the market has been "heavy"—that is, trending downward—for several months.

"On this campus our aim is not merely to tolerate the expression of divergent opinions. Our aim is, and should be, to welcome them. The free exchange of ideas is essential to the good health of this or any other university. Never, in my opinion, are the best interests of a university served by the violation of academic freedom. If there is any place within our society where conflicting ideas and opinions must be expressed, it is on our university campuses. The only limitations—if limitations they be—are those already expressed in our own University policy: the responsibilities of citizenship and the precepts of scholarship and faithful performance of other academic responsibilities."

Niagara Mishap Kills 2 Engineers

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Two chemical engineers trying to ferry food to the strikethound plant of E.I. du Pont de Nemours Co. were drowned Monday when their small motor boat capsized in the Niagara River.

The company identified them as George Wise Jr., 33, of Tonawanda and Allan N. Brown, 31, of Niagara Falls. A spokesman said they were members of the non-striking supervisory force.

Approximately 1,800 members of an independent union struck the plant here in a dispute over contract details.

Witnesses on shore said Wise and Brown struggled briefly in the water, about a mile and a half above Niagara Falls, then disappeared.

Company officials said nonstriking employees were trying to keep "critical operations" going at the river-front plant in order to "protect equipment and preserve jobs for as many employees as possible."

The plant manufactures sodium compounds and other chemicals.

Adlai Accuses Ike Administration Of 'Paralysis' On Farm Issue

... Renews Criticism Of Nixon

HILLSBORO, Ore. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson Monday night accused the Eisenhower administration of "paralysis" on the farm problem and renewed criticism of Vice President Nixon.

In a speech prepared for delivery here he said Secretary of Agriculture Benson has tried to turn the American consumer against the farmer, "then in the next breath, he tries to blame the farmers' troubles on organized labor."

"This sort of divisive tactic has no place in the cabinet of an American president," he said.

Stevenson went on to say the Republicans find themselves "entangled in the increasingly embarrassing embrace of Richard Nixon."

'Not Good'

"Many thoughtful Republicans share our conviction that what Mr. Nixon does best is not good for the country and does not qualify him for the second highest office in the land, in spite of President Eisenhower's admiration for him."

"And I would not be surprised if they will have found means of extricating themselves from his embrace."

Stevenson, engaged in a write-in contest with Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for the Oregon's 16 delegates to the Democratic National Convention, conferred with farm groups in Salem and spoke at Woodburn, Salem and Lebanon earlier.

Final Swing

He had a day's start on Kefauver, who will open a final swing through Oregon Tuesday. Kefauver will make 18 stops in a

Seven Fined For Contributing To Delinquency Of 4 Children

Seven adults, including the parents, were fined $25 to $100 Monday in Lancaster County Court on charges of contributing to the delinquency and dependency of four small children.

Judge Ronin said the evidence as to the other three defendants, who arrived at the home only shortly before police, showed they had been drinking excessively and by their conduct contributed in the case.

Deputy County Attorney Edward Carter had told the court the condition of the home and children and the conduct of all defendants should be taken into consideration in the sum total of evidence.

New Arrivals

Clem Gaughan, attorney for the defendants, argued that three defendants, "who arrived only five minutes before police," had no responsibility for the charged conditions.

In other argument, he maintained several other defendants, who had driven to Council Bluffs and back with the children Saturday night, had been drinking, but not excessively, and had provided a hot meal for the children during the trip.

Gaughan defended conditions that Sunday morning as "not too unlike those of other families" who return home late Saturday night and are just arising Sunday morning.

The four children, who were taken to Cedars Home for Children by police, are presently in the custody of the Juvenile Court.

In the case, Judge Ronin said Logan had the "responsibility for the primary welfare of his home and children and did nothing to prevent the drinking, but participated in it." Mrs. Logan had "nothing to drink, but acquiesced to the conduct of the others," the court said.

Ager Describes Improved Method Of Running Dump

An improved method of operation for the proposed new city dump north of Lincoln has been explained by Park Superintendent James Ager to the City Council.

The hot question of the dump location was laid over for hearing by the Council until next Monday, at the request of opponents to the site.

According to Ager, dumping in the new location would end every day at 4 p.m. This would give the entire day's collection each day.

Also, he said, the area would be fenced to keep out "pickers" and burning would be kept to a planned minimum.

Heartening News

Another sixty days will tell the final story of Nebraska's 1956 wheat crop. Meantime, the optimistic reports of the Department of Agriculture make hopeful reading. What they say is that the prospective yields look steadily better.

The department estimated the crop at 66,348,000 bushels in its April 1 report. Its May 1 report raised the figure to 72,094,000 bushels.

The change was mostly accounted for by favorable growing weather and enough drought-breaking moisture to cut crop abandonment from an estimated 10 per cent to 6 per cent. At this stage the state is rolling along toward a good crop—an average of 22 bushels to the acre.

Most Distinguished Guest

Dr. Raden Hadji Soekarno, president of the Indonesian Republic, will set foot on American soil this week—an official visitor representing one of the world's newest free, independent countries.

"Bung Karno," as he was admiringly called by his fellow Indonesians, was a leader in the independence movement which flowered after World War II and resulted in the withdrawal of the Dutch as colonial masters of Indonesia. He has remained at the helm of independent government, steering it toward stability and establishment.

The United States holds a special place of affection and esteem in Indonesia. Looked upon as the world's most glowing citadel of freedom and democracy, the United States offered an admirable philosophical example to the freedom-seeking Indonesians. They were even more grateful when the United States gave their cause a substantial lift. It prohibited the Dutch from using American foreign aid for the purpose of

While agriculture is troubled with farm program problems and unattractive prices it is still a truism that satisfactory production is the prime desideratum, for with such production there is basis for solving problems, without it there are few if any remedies.

It is still fresh in the memory of Nebraskans that it was a bumper wheat crop last year which cushioned the effects of midsummer drought and a virtual collapse of the non-irrigated corn production. The prospect of repeating in wheat this year is therefore especially welcome. So it is with diversification. An agricultural state such as Nebraska has its reverses on occasion but seldom a total washout of production.

$185,000 On Land

WASHINGTON — Rep. Victor Wickersham, the Oklahoma Democrat who has made more money in real estate than most people make from oil in Oklahoma, got worried about my investigation of his latest deal and had friends rush into print with his version of how he was making a cool $185,000 by selling land indirectly to the government.

Congressman Wickersham, however, did not reveal all the story. The whole story, including his many real-estate transactions, sounds like a fairy tale, with Uncle Sam, in some cases, being the good fairy to the poverty-stricken Congressman who came to rich Washington from poor Oklahoma complaining that a Congressman's salary was too meager to live on.

Mr. Wickersham states in his self-penned congressional biography that he was "reared on a cotton, wheat, and dairy farm." If being down-on-the-farm taught him how to make money in the nation's capital then perhaps Ike should make him secretary of the treasury — even if he is a Democrat.

For Victor not only has had his 70-year-old god father on Uncle Sam's payroll as a Library of Congress watchman and elevator operator; he also ran a used-car lot on a rent-free congressional parking lot; also participated in a half-million-dollar land option involving an Air Force installation in southern Maryland; also acquired 882.5 acres on the edge of the Everglades National Park in Florida without it costing him a dime; also snapped up some land in the vicinity of the Air Force Academy in Colorado; and now has bought and sold within a year a neat parcel of land on which the Geological Survey wants from becoming speculators themselves.

Obviously the map was confidential; for the good reason that the government didn't want to tip off land speculators. Furthermore it's illegal for a Congressman to sell land to the government. This law was passed for the specific purpose of preventing Congressman with inside tips from becoming speculators themselves.

End Of The Rainbow

If Monday was a day of rejoicing and happiness in a number of Lincoln homes, there was good reason. It was the day when a group of Lincoln citizens, along with a number of other Nebraskans, 73 in all, became naturalized, thus completing the steps enabling them to call themselves full-fledged Americans.

Out of this group of 73, all but 20 made Lincoln their adopted home, and out of the 53 living in Lincoln, 31 gave Latvia as the land of their birth. From out of this incident come the echoes of the remarkable story of Karl Ulmanis, or, as he is known, Ulman, who served as premier of the little Republic of Latvia. The final fate of Karl Ulmanis is not known. He may have been a victim of the Russian Communist regime, which took over the Latvian Republic, bag and baggage; or he may be living in a Siberian exile camp.

Karl Ulmanis was known as the "Premier from Nebraska." When Latvia still was a part of Russia, he found life in peril there because of his revolutionary views, made his way to America, eventually reached Lincoln, entered the College of Agriculture of the University of Nebraska as a student, later became a dairymen and a teacher. He had a substantial role in serving his people both as premier and as minister of war, but his chief interest continued to be agriculture and it was much to the credit of Karl Ulmanis that Latvian farming could be distinguished from that in other European countries largely because the farm family lived on the land rather than in villages. Karl Ulmanis throughout his life was a sturdy believer in human freedom.

Lincoln has been greatly enriched by this fine, outstanding group of Latvians who on Monday fulfilled all the requirements for American citizenship. Whether they, as displaced persons, derived an inspiration from Karl Ulmanis to come to the Nebraska capital, we cannot say, but we do know that if the example set by a native Latvian influenced their lives, it would be a deep satisfaction to the former Latvian premier, wherever he may be.

No Headway

This bright new age, we are sorry to note, is only bright in a few spots. There are areas where no headway has been made at all.

A reminder of this is carried in a report from the post office department which says that dogs are biting mailmen as usual. Last year 5,890 carriers were bitten, which both the department and the mailmen consider an excessive number. They are skeptical of the saying that the dog is man's best friend. The statement is ambiguous. It doesn't say which man.

At any rate the department proposes to do something. It has discarded the ammonia pistol idea. It takes care of the dogs all right, but poses a more serious owner problem. More favored at this time is psychology or special armoring of the carrier's legs. It seems to us it would be cheaper and easier to turn the problem over to the owners. Biting dog? No mail service.

Hard To Square

A Senate committee learned the other day that Murray Chotiner, California friend and campaign manager for Vice President Richard Nixon, made a call at the White House and subsequently two presidential assistants made calls to the CAB in behalf of his clients. Subsequently the administration passed off the incident as one of no significance and there the matter seems to rest.

Things have changed since 1951. At that time a Senate committee rebuked William M. Boyle for making an appointment at the RFC for the head of the American Lithofold Co. Boyle was executive vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee. It was Nixon who said then that "the very fact that the introduction comes from the national committee . . . constitutes influence."

Just A Month Ago

Lest all forget, it was just a month ago that an assailant threw acid in the face of Victor Reisel, a foe of racketeering and gangsterism, was and is a strong single force for betterment. It is now the opinion of medical specialists that the attack permanently destroyed his eyesight. The assault was as surely an attack on free speech and individual citizenship as that can be cited. But the attacker is still at large. On him the books must never be closed.

He is the real story of this deal — including some of the details Wickersham's friends omitted.

For some time Geological Survey had been eyeing a spot near Great Falls on the Potomac River which it considered ideal for its hydrological laboratory which must be near a river. Discreet inquiries indicated the land, formerly the site of an old gold mine, could be acquired for $600 to $800 an acre. However, government red tape held up the deal.

Meanwhile, Congressman Wickersham got busy. He asked the agency to inform him of its plans and recommendations for future building, and the agency obediently sent him a map showing four possible locations for the new laboratory.

Obviously the map was confidential; for the good reason that the government didn't want to tip off land speculators. Furthermore it's illegal for a Congressman to sell land to the government. This law was passed for the specific purpose of preventing Congressman with inside tips from becoming speculators themselves.

projects. He is a lucid economist and a good debater.

When Democrats recaptured the Senate in 1954, Douglas tried to assert a seniority claim to membership on finance. How majority Leader Johnson of Texas handled that and finance membership generally clearly illustrates why so many Northern Democrats find his leadership frustrating in spite of its technical brilliance.

The Senate Finance Committee handles the pocketbook issues, including taxes and social security. It is the outward and visible bulwark of the conservative coalition of Southern Democrats and right wing Republicans which has effectively run the Congress since 1953.

One death, one impending retirement and one illness within the space of weeks have reached into Senate finance. Senator Barkley is gone. Senator George, its ranking Democrat, will retire Dec. 31 next. Senator Millikin, its ranking Republican, whose term expires this year, is so crippled with arthritis he can come to the floor only in a wheel chair.

Furthermore its carefully constructed conservative walls are about to be breached by the ablest fiscal liberal of the Senate, Paul Douglas of Illinois. Arguing that it is not necessary to be a wastrel to be liberal, Douglas is the Senate's most dedicated foe of the pork barrel of local public works

Earlier under the Johnson leadership Senator Long of Louisiana had inherited the spot left by the retirement of Senator Connally of Texas. Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, oil millionaire and author of the natural gas bill vetoed by Harry Truman, was already there.

The majority leader then exercised his prerogative of committee choice and took the second vacancy. Senator Smathers of Florida had the requisite seniority for the third.

And everyone will be freed from want

In this land so fair,
There is plenty and to spare,
But our system of reward is out of gear.

And the good Lord only knows
What tactics they will use to gain their end.

Whatever be their aim,
It will be our shame

If at the polls we don't our rights defend.

Natives Not Awed

By Atomic Blasts

I had a dream last night that Juda formed a pact with the Marshallese we dusted with radioactive ashes during the last tests and quietly boarded the Mt. McKinley armed to the hilt with poison darts. It wasn't a bit pretty what they did to us, even after we explained what fine benefactors we've been to them.

But what about King Juda? Has anybody asked him what he thinks. Nope, not a soul. For one thing, and much against his will the conquering leader of Bikini atoll isn't permitted by the U.S. government to live there any more. There's a highly sensitive electronics installation where he used to sit in his thatched hut and whomp the end off a succulent coconut with one slash of his long knife. To get to the king for an exclusive sort of indignation now you'd have to have an outrigger canoe and a snort interpreter—neither of which the otherwise hospitable A.E.C. will provide.

POSTCARD

How the weeks fly by in the merry, merry month of May. Last week was National Motel Week. Next week is National Domestic Rabbit Week. On the level.

This week is Letters From America Week: "A person-to-person effort of combating Communist distortions and propaganda about life in the United States."

If you know someone overseas, write them a letter.

"Cher Pierre: Be careful about distortions and propaganda, Pierre. The Motels are flashing 'No Vacancy' signs. And Domestic Rabbits are domestic and rabbitty as all get out."

The month of May is the month of flowers, cher Pierre. And please don't let this get around, for it might get distorted. It is also the month of gizzard ache.

This is the month when stomach ulcers pop up along with the crocus. And medics entertain the yearly crop of customers who clutch their tummies while they read the 2-month-old copies of National Geographic in the outer office.

"Doc," they say, "it must have been something I ate."

I don't know what your national complaint is, Pierre. But ours is the fluttering stomach. The local medics, having given up on the cure, are now trying to talk it away.

"The wound stripe of the Twentieth Century," they say jovially. For most of us, this problem shows up in the month of May.

Dr. Leo J. Starry of the University of Oklahoma has a mighty clever reason. He says it is the irritation of income tax time.

However, they just changed our income tax from March 15 to April 15. By the way I figure it, that should have set the stomach problem back a month. Back to June. But no. The American internal pays no attention to the fiscal years. It goes on biting in May. Just like a hungry trout. Come May and 10 per cent of us undistorted taxpayers grab the midriff and tell the medic.

"But Doc, I've never been sick a day in my life."

Well, all this comes to mind today, Pierre, because my own delicate structure is churning.

I have a very peculiar structure. I don't have the actual thing. But I give such a good imitation of it that the medical profession is amazed. They give you something that looks like a milkshake. But tastes like Hawaiian poi. Then they X-ray you.

Well, I come out clear as glass. Not a mark on me. But you can scarcely believe this, Pierre. My stomach is doing something as though it had the real thing. A matter of May, I guess. And being in sympathy. For I am a very sympathetic individual when May rolls round each year.

I see now that a sure-fire cure is coming on the market. It cured chicken gizzards and apparently will knock off this May nonsense for us.

"Today, the Goetz family puts its old established brewing name on a beer especially made for you"

A personal message from Karl Goetz

President of the M. K. Goetz Brewing Company

"We are sure that you, and everyone who likes beer, have an 'ideal' ... a beer that's hard to describe but can be recognized in an instant by its distinctive flavor and quality.

"Today, the Goetz family puts its old established brewing name on a beer especially made for you. It's GOETZ—and we believe it may well be your ideal. Your very first glass of GOETZ tells you here is unusually clear and sparkling beer. Beer with a clean, fresh taste. And GOETZ is wet... the kind of cooling wetness you wish for when you're thirsty.

"The Goetz family has been brewing beer for nearly a century—97 years to be exact—and we're proud and grateful for our friendly, long-standing relationship with so many millions of people. And frankly, we have never felt quite so good about our beer as we do right now—about GOETZ.

"There's an old tradition in our family—brew every bottle as though it's the only bottle you brew—and GOETZ measures up to that tradition. No expense nor pains have been spared to bring you this kind of purity, quality and uniformity. We hope you will try GOETZ, and soon, because we're sure you will like it."

Sincerely,

GOETZ...the greatest beer in 97 years of GOETZ brewing!

Brakeman May Have To Return $90,000 Awarded For Injury

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court last ruled that the New Haven Railroad must pay $90,000 to an injured brakeman. Monday the court reversed the decision and sent the case back to a lower court.

"Oh my God," said brakeman Raymond G. Cahill, 24, at his New Haven, Conn., home. "You mean they're going to take it away?"

Woman Dies In Carleton Crossing Crash

'56 Road Death Toll Hits 103

Lincoln Star Special
CARLETON, Neb. — A car freight-train collision at a Carleton crossing about noon Monday claimed the life of Mrs. Jim L. Bailey, 67, driver of the auto involved.

Mrs. Bailey was instantly killed in the accident, according to Thayer County Sheriff Herbert Schoenfeld. She was traveling alone.

The sheriff said the signal lights at the Union Pacific crossing were working at the time of the accident. She was thrown 180 feet by the impact.

Mrs. Bailey, who had just dropped her husband off downtown, was en route to her daughter's home when the mishap occurred. The Baileys live on the edge of Carleton.

Her survivors include her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Isabella Swenson of Carleton, and a son, Russell, who is in the Armed Forces.

Mrs. Bailey's death brought the state's 1956 highway fatality toll to 103, compared to 104 at this time last year.

Meanwhile, nine other Nebraskans died as the result of traffic accidents over the weekend—six in a single accident in Colorado. The victims:

Dennis Hunt, 88, Lincoln; Tommie G. Corf, 31, Kimball; his wife, Marlene, 24, and their four children, Terry Lee, 7, Leta, 2, Sandra, 16 months, and an infant boy.

August Rohde, 67, Ansley. Allen W. Miner, 51, Omaha.

The Corf family died in a fiery auto accident on Colorado Highway 52 near Fort Morgan.

Eye-witnesses said the Corf car was heading south at a high rate of speed when it sideswiped a car driven by George Fritz, about 50, of Fort Morgan. After sideswiping the Fritz auto, which was sitting on the shoulder of the road, the eye-witnesses said the Corf vehicle went end-over-end into a ditch and burst into flames.

Fritz and Kathlene Corf, 5, were taken to a Fort Morgan hospital in serious condition.

Man, 67, Dies In Tilden Fire

TILDEN, Neb. (AP)—Albert Preuss, 67, who lived alone in a one room house here, burned to death Monday.

Firemen believe Preuss was using gasoline from a can found near the body, to start a fire in a small heating stove, and that the fire followed an explosion.

The sheriff said he had asked and received the resignation of Mrs. Herman Stevens who appeared Sunday on a program produced by Phil Allen, candidate for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the second district.

"All employees had been warned not to take part in any political campaign without my expressed wishes," the sheriff said.

"All that such action by her would tend to do," he said, "would be to alienate from me the votes of all opponents of Mr. Allen."

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brock, reside in Columbus. The younger Brock, his wife and four children make their home in Green Bay, Wis.

There's News Around Town

WE L L for goodnesssake — It doesn't seem possible we have reached the half-way mark in the month, but we have — and it means that we'll be hearing more and more of June brides-elect, to say nothing of those who have chosen wedding dates in late May — It also means that dancing clubs are winding up their season with spring parties — such as the Colonial Dancing Club which held its last dinner dance of the year last Friday evening at Hillcrest — We told you about that a few days ago, but what we didn't tell you was that new officers were named to fill the vacancy of new officers — A bit ambiguous, perhaps, but it seems that Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Spilchik, who were named to the presidency at the usual election of officers, will not be around next year — The Spilchiks have been transferred to Cedar Rapids, Ia. So — on Friday evening Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth McGinnis were chosen to assume the duties of president.

THE REVELERS will be dining and dancing on Saturday evening at Hotel Cornhusker, and in charge of the arrangements for the "Vacationland Special" is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edholm, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Silverman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burden, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Wiedman and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Forke.

WHEN Mrs. Robert G. Simmons entertains at a tea at her home this afternoon, between the hours of 4 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock, it will be to honor Mrs. B. Tara Bai of New Delhi, India. Presiding at the refreshment table will be Mrs. Victor Anderson and Mrs. W. V. Lambert, and assisting in the dining room will be Miss Mabel Lee, and six foreign students in the department of home economics at the University of Nebraska, including Mrs. Gourie Mukherjee, Miss Saroj Khanna,

AND there are other Saturday parties for other brides — Miss Nancy Hemphill, for instance, whose marriage to Robert Dawson will take place on June 10, will be complimented on Saturday when Miss Muriel Pickett is hostess at a dessert luncheon at Hotel Cornhusker. The guests, all Pi Beta Phi sisters, will present the bride-elect with a stainless steel shower.

ANOTHER Saturday courtesy is the luncheon for which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winterhalter and Mrs. Richard Alloway will be hostesses at the Lincoln Country Club when they compliment Miss Diane Weiss whose marriage to Lt. Jack Gordon will take place on May 26. Twelve guests have been invited for the luncheon and bathroom shower, and among them will be the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Roy Weiss of Las Vegas, Nev., formerly of Lincoln.

NEWS from Bassinet circles this morning tells us of the arrival of Stephen Birks Sands on Monday, May 14, at Lincoln General Hospital. The baby's maternal grandparents are Mrs. Helen Platt and Edward Platt, both of New York City, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Al Sandovich.

Arriving today to greet her grandson — to visit her son-in-law and daughter, and to keep an eye on Stephen's three older brothers, Edward, Alan and David, will be Mrs. Platt.

The first two prize designs will be entered in a competition sponsored nationally by the "Living for Young Homemakers" magazine.

Judges for the competition were G. Hugh Tsuruoka of Chicago, architect and design editor, and Robert Englebrecht of New York City, editor of architecture, both of "Living for Young Homemakers"; M. W. Anderson and John Strauss, Lincoln builders; and Erik Jensen and Jim Porter, faculty members of the NU department of architecture.

Prof. Jensen told the group that "the students are presenting a better and more progressive house than last year."

Prof. Porter said "this program is an excellent idea."

G. Hugh Tsuruoka said the student work "is as good as the professional talent" in other cities holding competition.

Robert Engelbrecht said "we are considering making this idea of the Home Builders to use a student's design in their Parade of Homes an example across the country."

An honorable mention plaque was awarded to builder Ervin E. Peterson for the outstanding exhibit home and merchandising program at the Acapulco Derby. The contest was sponsored by the National Association of Home Builders for further study.

The walk is designed primarily to serve the new Bryan Elementary School under construction at 40th and Summer. Construction of the walk would necessitate building of a foot bridge south of South over Antelope Creek at a cost to the city of $1,800.

Council Caught In Middle Of Battle Over Fate Of Leighton, 33rd-48th

By BILL DOBLER

Star Staff Writer

The City Council was placed in the middle of a battle Monday between the University of Nebraska seeking the closing of Leighton from 33rd to 48th and a host of other interests advocating the opening of the same section.

Leighton is in the city's comprehensive city plan as a major arterial running from the northeast radial west of 33rd straight east to the city limits. The city owns the north half of a right-of-way for Leighton in the unopened section from 33rd to 48th.

An ordinance introduced by Councilman Rees Wilkinson to create an improvement district in that section has been laid over by the City Council for further study.

Three University of Nebraska officials appeared Monday to emphasize the importance to the state institution of the abandonment of Leighton from 33rd to 48th. They were Business Manager John Sellick, Dean W. V. Lambert of the Agricultural College and Attorney Earl Cline.

'Of Utmost Importance'

This trio asserted that the closing was a matter of utmost importance. No question in the past 30 years, Cline said, has been more important to the University than this.

Now is the time, Cline said, for the Council to "dispel the often heard report in the State Legislature that the University does plenty for Lincoln but Lincoln does nothing for the University."

Not that the report is true, he said, but it is heard.

Dean Lambert said Leighton would separate the operations of the Agricultural College. The University, he said, now owns 40 acres of land north of Leighton between 33rd and 45th.

Land Acquisition

All the land from 33rd to 45th between Leighton and Baldwin will be acquired by either negotiation or condemnation, he said.

It was pointed out by Selleck that the land acquisition north of Leighton has been a long-standing University program.

The land is being used, said Dean Lambert, for growing of experimental grasses and legumes for the use of agriculture in the entire state.

A consolidation of the Ag College campus on the north and south sides of Leighton, Cline said, is vital to the research and teaching program of the University.

Opposition to the closing was expressed by a number of attorneys and others.

"Blight?" The Area Speaking for the Abel Investment Co. and the O. L. & B. Railroad, Attorney Lloyd Marti said in the area that the land affected by the closing of Leighton would "blight" a large area to the north and east of the University property. Such sites, he said, are not too common in Lincoln.

Leighton, he said, is the only major east-west arterial that possibly could be developed between Holdrege and Adams.

"The University," Marti said, "has a perfect right to buy land and use it as it pleases but when it asks to have a street closed which affects one whole area of the city and the major suburb of University Place, then that is another matter."

Leighton is a straight right-of-way, Marti pointed out, clear from 27th to one mile beyond 48th.

Waited 2 Generations

Attorney Richard Smith who owns property along 48th between Walker and Leighton told the Council that "University Place" has waited for two generations for the opening of Leighton and it is now time it was done."

Attorney John Dudgeon pointed out for clients who own 11 lots in the area that the land affected by the closing of Leighton would "blight" a large area to the north and east of the University property. Such sites, he said, are not too common in Lincoln.

"Long A Dream"

A. Clifford Anderson, representing the University Place Businessmen's Association, said the opening of Leighton "has long been a dream of University Place."

Another University Place businessman, M. C. Mayo, also urged opening of Leighton.

Stuart Hits Grand-Slammer

Chiefs Explode In 9th, Win 12-6

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — The Albuquerque Dukes' pitching staff collapsed completely in the ninth inning Monday night as league-leading Lincoln scored seven runs on four walks, an error and three hits, including Dick Stuart's grand slam home run to take a 12-6 victory.

The Chiefs now move into Amarillo to open a series with the skidding Gold Sox. Andy Bush (3-0), the ex-Chief hurler, is slated to pitch for the Gold Sox against Lincoln's Ben Daniels (2-1).

The Dukes had held a 6-5 margin going into the ninth when reliever George Zackey walked the first two men and was relieved by Ernie Bartolomei who walked the only man he faced. The fourth consecutive walk, this one off Bud Bauhofer, brought in the tying run.

Marcus Cobos then hit a grounder short which was ruled a fielders choice when no out was made and a run scored. Stuart then slammed his drive 380 feet over the left-field barrier.

Lincoln jumped off to three runs in the first inning, using two walks and a pair of singles for the runs. An unearned run in the fourth, scored on Swarts' triple and an error on the play, gave the Chiefs a 4-1 margin.

A four-run sixth inning, featured by Len Van De Hey's triple, his third hit of a perfect 5-for-5 night, put the Dukes in the lead for the first time at 5-4.

Three singles and a walk by Duke starter Jack Martin in the seventh brought Zackey to the scene, although a run had not scored because Martin had picked Frank Rice off first base.

Before throwing a pitch, Zackey balked in the tying run, but got out of the inning without further damage.

Another hit by Van De Hey, a sacrifice and Chuck Lundgren's single scored the final Duke run in the seventh, giving them a 6-5 lead which held until the disastrous ninth.

For Dick Drilling it was victory number two in two nights, bringing his record to 3-1. Zackey took a second loss in as many nights, and his fourth without a win.

Lollar Takes Minoso's Role As Sox Go-Go Guy

D E T R O I T (AP) — Now they're saying "As Sherm Lollar goes, so go the White Sox."

For several seasons it has been Minnie Minoso in the role of the Chicago club's make-or-break guy.

But when the 31-year-old Lollar caught fire few games back, so did Marty Marion's White Sox. The Arkansas-born catcher has hiked his average from .231 to .367 in 5 games and has 13 hits, including 4 doubles and a pair of home runs, in his last 17 times at bat.

Minoso, the fleet left fielder, regained his batting punch at about the same time and has upped his batting average from .207 to .324 in the last 10 games.

Lollar added a double, a single and a sacrifice fly as the White Sox thumped the Detroit Tigers 8-1 for a sweep of their three-game series at Briggs Stadium. Minoso also had a double and a single and drove home a run while scoring a pair himself. Lollar drove in 3 runs.

When the Chicago club came to town, its record was seven wins and eight defeats. The White Sox went back to Chicago for a home stay with a mark of 10 wins and 8 losses, and were in third place just a shade behind the Cleveland Indians.

43 Hits In 3 Games

The White Sox turned the Tiger pitching into a feast, collecting 43 hits in the three-game set.

Marion was jubilant as the Sox headed back to Comiskey Park.

"They look like a new team," said the Sox manager. "It's amazing what a few base hits will do for you."

Billy Pierce, though in trouble most of the way, registered his fourth win against the Tigers scattering 10 hits on the way to the triumph. The Sox backed him with a 14-hit attack that included three singles by Jim Rivera, a home run and a single by Nellie Fox, two singles by George Kell and the big hitting of Lollar and Minoso.

Stock Mart Dives Following News

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market nosed down abruptly Monday in a burst of selling that coincided with the Russian announcement of a cut in military forces.

The drop wiped out an estimated 2½ billion dollars from the quoted value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, as judged by the decline of $2.20 in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks.

Losses were $1 to $5. All divisions were caught in the selling.

Brokers pointed out that the market has been going through a rest period since a record high level April 6. That high peak was attained in a strong rally that started in mid-February.

With the reaction, the market has been nervous and irregular, with a selective basis. Last Thursday there was a severe drop that followed an announcement of a cut in production by General Motors. Monday the drop followed the Russian announcement.

The industrial component of the average was off $2.70, railroads were down $2.30, and the utilities were off 20 cents.

On the Nasdaq, the market for over-the-counter stocks, the average was down 24.500 on Friday.

The American Stock Exchange was lower on volume of 1,060,000 shares against 950,000 Friday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Rails and utilities moved up while industrials and quality investment issues were mixed.

Mixed Bond Market Monday. Volume rose to $4,710,000 per value on the big board for $4,050,000 last Friday.

U.S. Treasury bonds were virtually unchanged in quiet trading in the over-the-counter market. The 2½s of December, 1963, the Victor 2½s of December, 1967, and the 30s 3½s were steady at 111 4/32, and 98 23/32, respectively. The 30-year 3½s gained 2 3/32 at 103 20/32.

Among the rails, Florida East Coast 2½s added 1 1/33%; Union Pacific 2½s were unchanged at 92 9/16, but the 4½s and 5½s lost as much as ¾%.

Among utilities Consolidated Edison 3½s of 1965 and Ohio Edison 3s moved up 1 each at 109 ¾ and 95, respectively.

George Accepts Ike Offer

Demo Senator To Be NATO Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) Monday night accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to serve as his personal representative in development of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization into something more than a military unit.

The White House announced George's acceptance after the 78-year-old chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had conferred with the President for an hour. George announced last week that he will not seek re-nomination.

Eisenhower promptly offered him a post as his personal representative, with the rank of ambassador, in NATO.

The White House announcement said George told Eisenhowers Monday night that he plans "to retain his present post in the Senate for the time being, but would be available after adjournment of the Senate to perform any duty consistent with his senatorial responsibility that might be requested by the President."

Congress hopes to adjourn by mid-July.

The White House said that meanwhile George, in co-operation with Secretary of State Dulles, "will study the problem of the development of the NATO concept and consult with the foreign ministers of Canada, Italy and Norway who were designated by the NATO council to study the problem with the governments involved."

George met with Eisenhower in the President's White House living quarters. The President relayed announcement of George's acceptance to newsmen when their meeting ended.

Blaze Doused

Firemen were called to 2339 C Monday night to douse a garage fire. Damage was reported slight. The garage is owned by John Wolf of the same address.

Dead Nominee Still Figures In Election

. . . As Koreans Vote

SEOUL, Korea (Tuesday) (AP)—A dead man's name and fears of violence hung over South Korea as the republic's nine million voters chose a president today.

Syngman Rhee, 81, was confident of winning a third term by a lopsided margin over his only official opponent, Cho Bong Am, an ex-Communist trained in Moscow.

Observers predicted 85 to 90 percent of the eligible voters will cast ballots and that unofficial results will be known within two days.

Diehard Democrats urged followers of the late P. H. Shinicky to vote for him in protest against the Rhee administration. But the votes for Shinicky, who died on a campaign trip, will be invalid.

Cho, 59, who broke with the Communists in 1946 and now carries the progressive party's banner, has been reported in hiding because he fears assassination.

He served for a short time as agriculture minister in Rhee's cabinet and twice was elected vice chairman of the National Assembly.

Summer Session At NU To Begin Thursday, June 14

University of Nebraska summer session registration will be Wednesday, June 13, and classes will begin the next day, according to Dr. Frank E. Sorenson, director.

In view of the experience of other cities and the constantly declining passenger revenue of Lincoln City Lines, Campbell said, the committee feels there is no choice but to approve the higher fare.

The proposed change would hike fares from two tokens for 25 cents to four tokens for 55 cents. Children's fares would go from two tokens for 15 cents to 10 cents straight.

Campbell said the only regret the committee had was that the increase was not based on better service. The company has said it needs the higher fare just to maintain an existing service, Campbell said.

Campbell's group is to continue its work in an effort to seek ways of maintaining a transportation system and improving service.

Complete cooperation of the company, he said, has been promised by its officials.

Supreme Court Stands Pat On Ruling To End Sedition Law Enforcement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, in the face of widespread protest, refused Monday to reconsider its April 2 decision knocking out enforcement of state sedition laws.

Thirty-five states, Alaska and Allegheny County, Pa., had asked the court to reconsider and reverse itself.

In refusing to do this, the court put it up to Congress whether states, as well as the federal government, are to have the power to prosecute for sedition. Bills to nullify the effect of the April 2 decision and give the states this power are pending in both houses of Congress.

Dividing 6-3 the court held last month that state sedition laws have been superseded by the 1940

Smith Act and subsequent federal laws.

Encroachment Charged

This brought cries of federal "encroachment" from some state attorneys general along with demands for legislation "to preserve states' rights."

A national Assn. of Attorneys General, through its subversive activities and executive committee, adopted resolutions calling for amending the Smith Act to give the states coequal authority under it.

The April 2 decision threw out the conviction of Communist Leader Steven Nelson under Pennsylvania's sedition law. Nelson also was convicted under the Smith Act. His appeal in that case is pending before the Supreme Court.

Forty-two states have some form of laws against sedition. So have Alaska, Hawaii and Guam.

Other Actions

1. Refused to review a decision of the U. S. Court of Appeals in Philadelphia which was in favor of Albert Anastasia, reputed head of the old Brooklyn Murder, Inc. mob.

U. S. Dist. Judge William F. Smith of Newark, N.J., ruled Anastasia had fraudulently attained his certificate of naturalization, but the appellate court reversed him. The government has been seeking to deport Anastasia to his native Italy. He was naturalized in 1948 under a special procedure available to members of the armed forces.

2. Declined to rule on a University of Alabama challenge of an order requiring it to admit Autherine J. Lucy and other qualified Negroes as students.

3. Refused to consider a request by four Maryland farmers that agriculture agents seeking to determine the acreage they planted to wheat be barred from their farms.

Lower federal courts ordered the farmers to permit inspection of their wheat fields on the ground it was a necessary part of the federal crop control program.

Nebraska Council For Better Education Hears Six-Point Legislative Program

Ways to improve Nebraska's schools and solve their problems were discussed at the second quarterly meeting of the Nebraska Council for Better Education Monday.

Donald F. Kline, executive secretary of the Nebraska State Education Association, offered a six-point legislative program to improve Nebraska's school system.

The chief need, he said, is to broaden the tax base in Nebraska. This would include levying a sales tax and an income tax.

Kline called "almost criminal" the fact that last year in Nebraska 12.8 per cent of new high school teachers did not have college preparation.

Yet without more money, he said, Nebraska's school system will continue to suffer from such inadequacies.

The other five points of the Association's program are:

(1) Reorganization of school districts.

(2) Careful management of school lands.

(3) Increase in teacher certification standards.

(4) Universal free high school education.

(5) Protection of teacher retirement program and social security coverage.

Also speaking at the meeting were Dr. Norman F. Thorpe, president of the Nebraska Council on Teacher Education, and Mrs. Frances Beechner of the Nebraska State Department of Education.
